Introduction & Background

ApexGMAT is committed to delivering the best customized one to one GMAT tutoring available on the market today. With instructors achieving a minimum of 770, our business model requires a price point outside the range of some individuals, particularly those in developing economies.

The Apex Scholarship is designed to address this need and permit Apex to assist worthy candidates from a range of backgrounds. This application is designed to provide us with a snapshot of your hopes, goals, and dreams so that we can allocate our teaching resources to those individuals who best represent our ethos.

Awards are both need and merit based and are awarded by an internal committee at the sole discretion of ApexGMAT. As GMAT preparation and applications are often time sensitive, we strive to make scholarship decisions within 5 business days of submission.

This application is designed to be completed at a single sitting, in under an hour. While we hope that you'll present your best self, we encourage you to answer the questions as plainly and directly as possible. Revision and style are things best left to your GMAT application - we just want to learn about you!

Terms & Conditions: ApexGMAT makes no representation about the outcomes of GMAT preparation. At the successful completion of work with Apex, we do require that scholarship recipients remain available as references for other prospective clients, participate as mentors for future Apex alumni as they grow in their careers, and consent to appearing in promotional materials, including videos and testimonials.
